CONCEPT

Summer School on Real-World Crypto and Privacy in Croatia exists since 2015 where we witnessed the growth to more than 200 participants in 2019 (1/3 from industry) over the years.

We are planning yet another edition in June 2020, hoping to attract again not just PhD students and postdocs, but also industry people interested in recent development in cryptography. The programme will feature mainly plenary talks on recent advances, running in parallel with several trainings and tutorials.

ORGANIZATION

The school is jointly organized by the Digital Security (DiS) group, Radboud University (The Netherlands), ETH Zurich Information Security and Privacy Center (Switzerland), EPFL (Switzerland) and Faculty of El. Engineering and Computing, University of Zagreb (Croatia).

ADDRESSED AUDIENCE

The event aims at bringing together PhD students, postdoctoral researchers and security experts from industry, interested in the following topics:

- Cryptography for the Internet
- Recent developments in cryptography
- Systems security
- Network security
- Machine learning in security & privacy
- Physical security & cryptographic implementations
- Privacy enhancing technologies

This year's edition includes a number of tutorials as follows: Tamarin tutorial, hardware implementations tutorial and run-time attack tutorial. More will be announced on our website closer to the event.
